The HODs and Dean evaluate the faculty on a set of criteria based on role descriptions put in place by the HR Department. 3. Students give feedback on the performance of faculty members towards the end of each semester. The feedback focuses on the teaching-learning-evaluation process. 4. The feedback is taken anonymously, collated and analyzed for the overall rating, strength and weaknesses. 5. The Human resources department forwards the results of these appraisals to a panel of experts for evaluation/recommendations. 6. The HR department, together with the Dean shares the recommendations of the Performance Appraisal Committee, with the individual faculty members and the plan of action for coming year is formulated for self-improvement as well as incorporating changes in coursework. 7.
